Security basics you should know

We're working in the background to keep you safe, but that doesn't mean you should be reckless.

Here are some basic security tips you should know:

- 1 Use strong passwords!

We know how annoying this can be, but a strong password is often your first line of defense. There are many things you can do to make a strong password, but the most basic is making it long: over 16 characters at least.
- 2 Make sure all your apps are up-to-date

Updates don't just bring new features. They also fix security flaws apps you use may have. So don't ignore the updates.

You don't have to worry about your AVG apps: they will update automatically.
- 3 Be wary of bad links

Don't just click on a link because it promises to show you cute kittens. Always think twice before clicking on a link from a stranger, whether in online comments or in an email.
